EXTRACT of a Letter from Sir Henry Clinton, K. B. to Lord George Germain, One of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, received by Colonel Leland, who arrived in the Thynne Packet, which left Sandy Hook the 27th of May.

New York, May 18, 1781.

MY LORD,

I AM happy in being able to congratulate your Lordſhip on the very important Succeſs which the King's Troops in Virginia have had on their late Expedition to Peterſburgh, &c. (as deſcribed in Brigadier-General Arnold's Letter) which muſt ultimately be productive of the very beſt Conſequences to His Majeſty's Service; as it is credibly reported that the greateſt Part of the Tobacco collected there was French Property, and almoſt their entire Annual Remittance.

Extract of Brigadier-General Arnold's Letter to Sir Henry Clinton.

Peterſburgh, May 16, 1781.

SIR,

I AM extremely ſorry to inform your Excellency, that Major-General Phillips is reduced ſo low by a Fever, which ſeized him on the 2d Inſtant, that he is incapable of Buſineſs, and the Phyſicians are not without Fears for his Safety. In this Situation I think it my Duty to tranſmit to your Excellency, by Expreſs, a Detail of the Proceedings of the Army under the Orders of Major-General Phillips ſince they left Portſmouth, (which his Indiſpoſition prevented him from doing as he intended.)

On the 18th of April the Light Infantry, Part of the 76th and 80th Regiments, the Queen's Rangers, Yagers, and American Legion, embarked at Portſmouth, and fell down to Hampton Road; on the 19th proceeded up James River to Burwell's Ferry; on the 20th Lieutenant-Colonel Abercrombie, with the Light Infantry, proceeded up the Chickahomany in Boats; Lieutenant Colonel Simcoe, with a Detachment, to York; Lieutenant-Colonel Dundas, with another Detachment, landed at the Mouth of the Chickahomany; and Major-General Phillips and myſelf landed with Part of the Army at Williamſburg, where about 500 Militia were poſted, who retired upon our Approach. The Militia at York croſſed the River before the Arrival of Lieutenant-Colonel Simcoe, who made a few Priſoners, ſpiked and deſtroyed ſome Cannon, and next Day returned to Williamſburg.

On the 22d the Troops marched to Chickahomany. We were met on the Road, Five Miles from the Mouth of the River, by Lieutenant-Colonel Dundas, with his Detachment: This Evening the Troops, Cavalry, Artillery, &c. were reimbarked. The next Morning we were joined by Lieutenant-Colonel Abercrombie, with the Light Infantry, who had been Ten or Twelve Miles up the Chickahomany, and deſtroyed ſeveral Armed Ships, the State Ship-Yards, Warehouſes, &c. &c.

At Ten o'Clock the Fleet weighed and proceeded up the James River, within Four Miles of Weſtover.

The 24th weighed Anchor at Eleven o'Clock, and run up to City Point, where the Troops, &c. were all landed at Six o'Clock in the Evening.

The 25th marched at Ten o'Clock for Peterſburg, where we arrived about Five o'Clock P. M. We were oppoſed about One Mile from Town by a Body of Militia under the Orders of Brigadier-General Muhlenberg, ſuppoſed to be about One Thouſand Men, who were ſoon obliged to retire over the Bridge with the Loſs of near One Hundred Men killed and wounded, as we have ſince been informed; our Loſs only One Man killed and Ten wounded. The Enemy took up the Bridge which prevented our purſuing them.

26th. Deſtroyed at Peterſburg Four Thouſand Hogſheads of Tobacco, One Ship and a Number of ſmall Veſſels on the Stocks and in the River.

27th. Major-General Phillips, with the Light Infantry, Part of the Cavalry of the Queen's Rangers, and Part of the Yagers, marched to Cheſterfield Court-Houſe, where they burnt a Range of Barracks for Two Thouſand Men, and Three Hundred Barrels of Flour, &c.

The ſame Day I marched to Oſborn's, with the 76th and 80th Regiments, Queen's Rangers, Part of the Yagers, and American Legion, where we arrived about Noon. Finding the Enemy had a very conſiderable Force of Ships Four Miles above Oſborn's, drawn up in a Line to oppoſe us, I ſent a Flag to the Commodore, propoſing to treat with him for the Surrender of his Fleet, which he refuſed, with this Anſwer, "That he was determined to defend "it to the laſt Extremity." I immediately ordered down Two Six and Two Three Pounders, Braſs Field Pieces, to a Bank of the River, nearly level with the Water, and within One Hundred Yards of the Tempeſt, a Twenty Gun State Ship, which began immediately to fire upon us, as did the Renown of Twenty-ſix Guns, the Jefferſon, a State Brigantine of Fourteen Guns, and ſeveral other Armed Ships and Brigantines; about Two or Three Hundred Militia on the oppoſite Shore, at the ſame Time kept up up a heavy Fire of Muſquetry upon us. Notwithſtanding which the Fire of the Artillery, under the Direction of Captain Fage and Lieutenant Rogers, took ſuch Place, that the Ships were ſoon obliged to ſtrike their Colours, and the Militia drove from the oppoſite Shore. Want of Boats, and the Wind blowing hard, prevented our capturing many of the Seamen, who took to their Boats, and eſcaped on Shore; but not without firſt ſcuttling and ſetting Fire to ſome of their Ships, which could not be ſaved.

Two Ships, Three Brigantines, Five Sloops, and Two Schooners, loaded with Tobacco, Cordage, Flour, &c. &c. fell into our Hands.

Four Ships, Five Brigantines, and a Number of ſmall Veſſels, were ſunk and burnt. On board the whole Fleet, (none of which eſcaped) were taken and deſtroyed about Two Thouſand Hogſheads of Tobacco, &c. &c. &c. and very fortunately we had not a Man killed or wounded this Day; but have Reaſon to believe the Enemy ſuffered conſiderably. About Five o'Clock P. M. we were joined by Major-General Phillips, with the Light Infantry.

28th. The Troops remained at Oſborn's, waiting for Boats from the Fleet; Part of them were employed in ſecuring the Prizes, and carrying them to Oſborn's as a Place of Safety.

29th. The Boats having arrived, the Troops were put in Motion. Major-General Phillips marched with the main Body; at the ſame Time I proceeded up the River, with a Detachment in Boats, and met him between Cary's Mills and Warwick.

30th. The Troops marched to Manchester, and deſtroyed Twelve Hundred Hogſheads of Tobacco. The Marquis de Fayette having arrived with his Army at Richmond, oppoſite to Manchester, the Day before, and being joined by the Militia drove from Peterſburg and Williamſburg, they were Spectators of the Conflagration, without attempting to moleſt us. The ſame Evening we returned to Warwick, where we deſtroyed a Magazine of 500 Barrels of Flour, and Colonel Cary's fine Mills were deſtroyed in burning the Magazine of Flour. We alſo burnt ſeveral Warehouſes, with One Hundred and Fifty Hogſheads of Tobacco, a large Ship and a Brigantine afloat, and Three Veſſels on the Stocks, a large Range of Public Rope-walks and Storehouſes, and ſome Tan and Bark Houſes full of Hides and Bark.

May 1ſt. Marched to Oſborn's, and diſpatched our Prizes and Boats down the River; and in the Evening marched to Bermuda Hundreds, oppoſite City Point.

May 2d. Embarked the Troops, &c. &c.

May 3d. Fell down the River to Weſtover.

May 4th. Proceeded down to Tappahannock.

5th and 6th. Part of the Fleet fell down to Hog Iſland.

7th. Major General Phillips having received a Letter from Lord Cornwallis, Orders were given for the Fleet to return up the River again. We arrived at Brandon about Five o'Clock, and moſt of the Troops, Cavalry, &c. were landed this Evening, though it blew a Gale of Wind.

May 8th. Remained at Brandon. Major-General Phillips being very ill, and unable to travel on Horſeback, a Poſt Chaiſe was procured for him.

May 9th. The Light Infantry, and Part of the Queen's Rangers, in Boats, were ordered, with the Formidable and Spitfire, to proceed to City Point, and land there. The Reſt of the Army were put in Motion for Peterſburgh, where they arrived late in the Night, having marched near Thirty Miles this Day.

On our leaving Bermuda Hundred, and going down the River, the Marquis de Fayette with his Army moved towards Williamſburg, and by forced Marches had croſſed the Chickahomany at Long Bridge, when our Fleet returned to Brandon, which retrograde Motion of ours occaſioned him to return as rapidly by forced Marches to Oſborn's, where he arrived the 8th, and was preparing to croſs the River to Peterſburg when we arrived there, which was ſo unexpected, that we ſurpriſed and took Two Majors, (one of them Aid de Camp to Baron Stuben's's, the other to General Smallwood's); One Captain and Three Lieutenants of Dragoons; Two Lieutenants of Foot, a Commiſſary, and a Surgeon: Some of theſe Gentlemen arrived only two Hours before us, with an Intention of collecting the Boats for the Marquis to croſs his Army.

On the 10th the Marquis made his Appearance on the oppoſite Side of the River with a ſtrong Eſcort, and having ſtaid ſome Time to reconnoitre our Army, returned to his Camp at Oſborn's; and we are this Day informed he is marched to Richmond, where it is ſaid Wayne with the Penſylvania Line has arrived; this is however uncertain, but he is certainly expected there.

An Expreſs paſſed through this Place the Day before our Arrival here, who left Halifax on the 7th, and informed, that the Advance of Lord Cornwallis's Army arrived there that Morning: This Report we have from ſeveral Quarters, and I am inclined to believe it is true.—Several Expreſſes have been ſent to his Lordſhip, informing him of our being here ready to co-operate with his Lordſhip.—We are in anxious Expectation of having particular Intelligence from him every Minute.

As ſoon as it is reduced to a Certainty that Lord Cornwallis has croſſed the Roanoke, and is on his March for this Place, the Army will advance one or two Days March from hence to meet his Lordſhip, and carry a Supply of Proviſions for his Army.

A conſiderable Magazine of Flour and Bread has fallen into our Hands near this Place, and the Country abounds with Cattle.

Major-General Phillips is ſo weak and low, that it will be ſome conſiderable Time before he can go through the Fatigue of Buſineſs. In this critical Situation I am happy to have the Aſſiſtance of ſo many good and experienced Officers with me, commanding Corps. If joined by Lord Cornwallis, or the Reinforcement ſaid to be coming from New-York, we ſhall be in Force to operate as we pleaſe in Virginia or Maryland.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

Signed, B. ARNOLD.
